

Abstract of the Disclosure

A system and method for providing linked media content for interactive broadcast over a network. The system includes a presentation device for displaying streaming content and a selector for indicating interest in related media content. The method includes viewing a streaming media object, identifying a portion for indicating interest in related media content. A data source for linked media objects is also disclosed.

5

Patent No. 55864.001009